BANDITS LOOT WISCONSIN TOWN

POKER PLAYERS ARE LOCKED IN STATION AND BANK IS ROBBED

Two Payroll Hold-ups Result In Loot of $60,000 Stolen

Minocqua, Wis., Oct. 17.—Seven bandits raided the little town of Woodruff near here today.

The only inhabitants up at the early hour were four men playing poker in a saloon. These the bandits locked in the depot.

The intruders cut all communication lines leading from the town and dynamited the vault of the Woodruff State Bank.

An accurate check on the loot of the bandits has not been made. They are known to have escaped with $900 in twenty-five cent pieces, however, as these were in a box that is missing from the bank vault.

The poker players who were locked up said the bandits were in two automobiles.

Wilkesbarre, Pa., Oct. 17.—Three armed bandits today escaped with a $14,800 payroll of the West Knitting Mill at Plymouth after one of the most daring holdups in the history of Northeast Pennsylvania.

Clarence West, one of the mill officials was driving down Main Street in his automobile when he was stopped by the bandits who were in a machine carrying a New Jersey license.

West was covered with guns and told to hand over the money. He obeyed and a moment later the bandits were in flight toward Wilkesbarre.

Chicago, Oct. 17.—Four bandits executed a payroll robbery at the West Pullman Works of the International Harvester Company today, escaping in a sedan with $45,000.

Police said they believed it was an "inside job" as the bandits must have hidden in the plant all night. One of the bandits stood guard over five men and two girl office employees while the others picked up the money. An employee fired at the bandits from a third story window but the shots did not take effect.

CHAMP WAR WIDOW LIVES IN DAYTON

Cincinnati, O., Oct. 17.—Mrs. Alice Atkinson, nee, 87, Tintown, Montgomery County, is credited with being the champion war widow.

William H. Wentz, U. S. pension agent here, says she is the widow of two civil war veterans and of Spanish American war veteran, and is about to receive a check for $2,572.17 from the government as back-pension.

One of the husbands, a civil war veteran, had a wife he deserted in Florida, so this pension claim was not allowed. She draws no pension from the other civil war veteran, Wentz says, because records are incomplete covering him.

INDIANA PAYS LAST TRIBUTE TO RALSTON

Indianapolis, Ind., Oct. 17.—Indiana today paid its final honor to Senator Samuel M. Ralston, Democratic leader who died Wednesday night. Private family services were held at the country home of the Ralstons' near Indianapolis shortly before noon.

Rev. Jean S. Miller, pastor of the Second Presbyterian Church of Indianapolis, officiated.

Accompanied by vice president Charles G. Dawes and a delegation of Senators and officials of the state of Indiana, the body was to be taken to Lebanon, Ralston's former home, after the private services.

At Lebanon public funeral services will be held in the Presbyterian Church followed by burial in the Lebanon Cemetery.

NAME NEW MONITOR FOR WHITE HOUSE

Washington, Oct. 17.—A new monitor of official White House and state department functions has been chosen to take over the management of the social entertainments.

J. Pierpont Moffat, secretary of Embassy, has been made assistant to Assistant Secretary of State J. Butler Wright and in charge of the office ceremonial.

Moffat was stationed in Constantinople before his transfer here after an extensive diplomatic service in Tokio, Warsaw and The Hague.

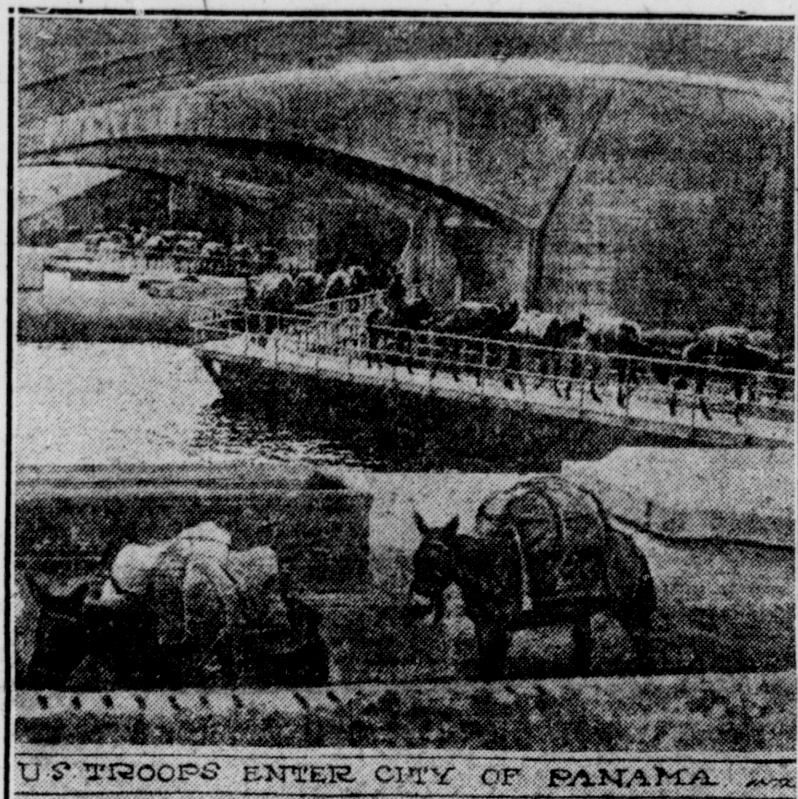

ISLE OF JERSEY DEFIES BRITISH EMPIRE OVER QUESTION OF TAXES

St. Heliers, Island of Jersey, English Channel, Oct. 17.—This tiny island, with a total area of 45 square miles today nuzzled defiance at the mighty British Empire.

Jersey, lying only a few hours by steamer from the Southern Coast of England, is one of the few remaining earthly paradises where there is no income tax, where whiskey is far cheaper than in Scotland, wine more inexpensive than in France and tobacco less costly than in Virginia.

With the arrival today of a special committee of the British Privy Council, headed by the Duke of Atholl, Great Britain renewed its effort to exact a tribute from the channel island. Britain asks a contribution of 325,000 pounds annually from Jersey and 275,000 from Guernsey. Jersey retorts that Britain has no right to tax her, that she cannot and will not contribute. The council committee came to investigate the island's capacity to pay and to attempt to arrange an amicable settlement.

U. S. Troops Enter Panama

U. S. TROOPS ENTER CITY OF PANAMA

Three battalions of U. S. troops, commanded by Gen. Martin, have crossed the Gatun locks of the Panama Canal and entered the city of Panama to quell the riots and strikes that went beyond the control of the Panamanian Government.

DAUGHERTY FAVORS ESTABLISHMENT OF FEDERAL REFORMATORIES BY GOVERNMENT

Would Use Such Prisons To Correct First Offenders and Young Criminals—Reveals Conversations With Harding

Columbus, O., Oct. 17.—Harry M. Daugherty, former attorney general of the United States, is leading a movement to secure the permanent establishment of federal reformatories, corresponding to state industrial schools for first offenders and young criminals.

Following the announcement of the government decision to set up an industrial prison on the site of Camp Sherman at Chillicothe, Daugherty told of his connection with it and related some inside history of the Harding administration.

"Finding the Federal prisons crowded, when I first took office, I recommended that young first offenders be paroled whenever possible," Daugherty said.

After about four months President Harding raised the question that Daugherty was too lenient. The attorney general says he then explained the situation in regard to many first offenders being kept with hardened criminals.

Daugherty says this condition gave him the idea of setting up a new and separate prison of the industrial school type. In the meantime he had helped secure work for many paroled convicts. He says none went wrong afterward.

He selected the late John H. Patterson, president of the National Cash Register Company, to lead a voluntary committee to help bring about the reform. Death of President Harding and Patterson caused delays but Daugherty says he is still working on the subject and expects to have some definite announcement soon.

CHARGE DRY AGENTS CONFISCATED CASH

Cleveland, O., Oct. 17.—Charges that four Newburgh Heights dry agents, including Gresham Schooley, 22, son of Councilman L. G. Schooley, entered her home during her absence and that $130 was missing from a bureau drawer after the raid, were made Saturday by Mrs. Millie Brucato.

Mrs. Brucato charged that two auto loads of dry agents ransacked her house, found no liquor and that the money, hidden in the bureau was missing.

Neighbors noted the license of the raiders' car and traced it to Schooley, they said.

The charges were denied.

TWELVE INJURED

Louisville, Ky., Oct. 17.—A check-up today showed twelve persons were severely injured, farm buildings unroofed and damaged and telephone lines torn down when an 80 mile tornado swept south central Kentucky late yesterday.

AIRCRAFT INQUIRY BOARD WILL REPORT SOON TO PRESIDENT

Probers Conclude Open Hearings After Long Session

Washington, Oct. 17.—The aircraft inquiry is over and a report for the guidance of President Coolidge now is being prepared.

Open hearings were concluded last night after almost a month of sittings. A brief executive session was held today to map out a program for drafting the report.

Board members will devote a week to individual study of the evidence and then assemble to write the report which is to be in the hands of the President by Nov. 1.

The next move in the controversy will be the war department action on the court martial of Col. William Mitchell whose charges and criticisms precipitated the inquiry.

Secretary of War Davis is awaiting affidavits of San Antonio newspapermen swearing that Mitchell gave them the statement which started all the trouble.

Upon receipt of these, expected today, or Monday, all the evidence will be put in the hands of Major General John L. Hines, chief of staff, who will then make a recommendation.

The proceedings are expected to get underway without delay after Hines makes his recommendation and Mitchell is handed the charges.

The board is expected to make its recommendations along three lines: 1—Status of the air services, whether they shall be unified, as Col. Mitchell proposes, operated as independent corps or maintained as at present.

2—Government purchase policy—how best to procure planes for the government and at the same time encourage the infant aircraft manufacturing industry.

3—Commercial aviation—How best to promote civilian aeronautics to build up a reserve of both planes and pilots for possible emergency use.

GOUT KILLED ADAM

London, Oct. 17.—Adam, the father of the human race, died of gout.

This, at least, is the information contained in a volume of genealogies written in the 16th century and just now unearthed amid a collection of old books in Herald's College.

The volume which professes to trace the pedigree of the early Saxon kings right back to Adam and Eve further declares that Adam was buried at Hebron. It does not state however whether Adam contracted his gout—"goute" it is spelled in the book—prior, or subsequent to his expulsion from the Garden of Eden.

AGREEMENT NEAR ON BOUNDARY TREATY

Washington, Oct. 17.—The United States and Mexico have agreed in principle and in most of the details of a new treaty designed to stop smuggling along the boundary between the two nations.

Conclusion of the treaty is regarded here as an important step in the government's plan to enforce liquor and narcotic prohibition.

A treaty with Canada covering the northern land frontiers of the United States has been concluded and put into effect, and it is expected that the Mexican convention will be similar to that with Canada in most provisions.

The Canadian treaty provides customs officials of the two countries should co-operate closely especially as to clearance of liquor and drug shipments.

The Mexican convention will cover a larger number of cases than the Canadian pact, it is indicated.

The Mexican pact was drafted last May at a conference between Mexican and American officials at El Paso.

AGRICULTURAL AMERICA IS CHANGING RAPIDLY 1925 FARM CENSUS INDICATES

Washington, Oct. 17.—Agricultural America in the past five years has undergone profound changes, resulting in a loss in the total number of farms under cultivation, according to the 1925 farm census, results of which were announced by the census bureau today.

The total number of farms at the present time was placed at 6,372,608 compared with 6,448,343 in 1920, a decrease of 75,735.

The bare figures, however, do not tell the story of farm abandonment and the sub-division of great ranches into smaller units which has disguised the extent of the decline.

Abandonments were greater in the Aids Brother.

"Texas" Guinan, gay figure of the Gay White Way of New York, is standing by her brother, called to court by a publicity agent on a charge of assault. "Texas," once of the stage and screen, and well known in all parts of the country, now figures as a hostess in a New York night club.

INEXPERIENCED ARE BLAMED FOR SUDDEN AND HEAVY TRADING

Small Speculators Are Flooding Brokers With Stock Orders

Chicago, Oct. 17.—A multitude of inexperienced speculators with bank-rolls not large enough to cover their almost certain losses, are largely responsible for the heavy trading in stocks on the New York stock exchange, J. C. Johnston, stock manager of the house of Jackson Brothers told the United Press today.

"The little fellows—the man in factories and offices—are flooding the brokers with orders to buy stocks," Johnston said. "They are most inexperienced speculators, bent on reaping huge profits."

"They pay no heed to the warnings of bankers and 'old heads' in the stock market. They are sending their savings into the pits with no knowledge of the game."

"If present conditions prevail for three or four months more the country will experience one of the wildest times in stock exchange annals," Johnston said.

"The banks, always on the safe side, will start to unload their stocks rapidly once the inevitable price break comes," Johnston pointed out. "Then it will be the small traders who will suffer. They will lack capital to back up their purchases and they will be wiped out."

Johnston said Uncle Sam was partly responsible for the present craze of speculation. "The public learned to invest in Liberty Bonds during the war," he said "and the public does not understand the difference between Liberty Bonds as an investment and stocks as a speculation."

ATTEMPTS SUICIDE

Columbus, O., Oct. 17.—Mrs. Mabel Devors, 31, of Lima attempted suicide here today by shooting at the home of her brother-in-law, W. J. King.

Despondency, caused by ill health was believed responsible for Mrs. Devore, 31, of Lima attempted suicide. King, who is the head of the King International Detective Agency, said the gun belonged to him.

DAYTON REPORTER AND CAMERA MAN VICTIMS WHEN AIRPLANE FALLS

Maurice Hutton, Aeronautic Expert, and Verne Timmerman, Photographer For Dayton Herald, Killed With McCook Field Army Pilot

Dayton, O., Oct. 17.—Five little children today called for their daddies and couldn't understand why they didn't come, as they always did before.

These little ones are too young to realize that Death rode the Honeymoon Express, the proud McCook Field airways ship which plunged to her doom in Pennsylvania at 3:30 p. m. Friday, carrying Lieutenant George D. Burgess, 32, Maurice C. Hutton, 23, aviation editor and Verne Timmerman, 24, newspaper photographer, employed by the Dayton Daily Herald to death.

The two newspaper men were returning with Burgess, a crack flyer, from their last assignment—the air races at Mitchell Field. They left a week ago Monday with Burgess at the stick. They left Mitchell Field for home, Wednesday but were held up at Bolling Field by bad weather.

Hutton wired his office at 10 o'clock as follows: "We are leaving for Dayton in thirty minutes."

Less than five hours later the press wires carried a flash which said three men were killed in a crash near New Salem, Pa. A half hour later the worst fears entertained by the Herald staff were definitely confirmed and representatives were sent to the scene of the tragedy both by the newspaper and by the officers at Wilbur Wright Field, where Burgess was stationed as control officer for the Model Airways.

PLANE EXPLODED
First reports said the plane exploded in midair. This was corrected today by official messages, which said the engine was missing, causing the pilot to lose control. The ship first struck a tree and plunged to the ground and then exploded. All three bodies are said to have been burned beyond recognition. Neither man in the ship had a chance to use his parachute, although all three were versed in their operation.

McCook Field today sent officers to the scene to make an investigation to determine if possible what caused or contributed to the tragedy.

All three were married. Burgess left two small children, Timmerman two and Hutton one.

Hutton was regarded as an authority on aeronautical matter, he having made an intensive study of that subject for five years. Mrs. Hutton collapsed when she heard of the tragedy and is under the care of a physician. Mrs. Timmerman was visiting at the home of Mrs. Eva Boll, Apartment No. 1, 509 Crosby Street, Akron, O., and was not informed of the death of her husband until about midnight, when her brother, Howard Johnson, reached that city to tell her of the accident.

Representatives of the Dayton Herald who left for the scene of the crash, last night, were expected to return with the bodies late this afternoon. Until then the funeral arrangements can not be made.

VICTIMS WELL KNOWN
Each of the victims was an expert in his particular line of work. Hutton knew practically every flyer of prominence in the United States, from Major General Patrick, chief of the service, and Col. William Mitchell on down the line. He enjoyed the confidence of air service officials—a confidence which he never violated. He and Timmerman were lifelong friends and companions and had covered many assignments from air-planes. They were always ready and willing to go anywhere at any time and in any kind of weather—for they were in love with their work.

Mrs. Burgess attended the air races at Mitchell Field and remained for a visit with her mother, Mrs. Catherine Seisoffer, residing at Seagate Long Island. Her husband will be accorded a military burial.

RIGHTMIRE IS MADE TEMPORARY HEAD OF STATE UNIVERSITY

Professor In Law College To Succeed Dr. W. O. Thompson

Columbus, O., Oct. 17.—Prof. George W. Rightmire, of the College of Law will become temporary president of Ohio State University when Dr. W. O. Thompson retires November 5.

Prof. Rightmire was selected by the University Board of Trustees last night and will administer the office until a permanent has been chosen. Dr. Thompson retires at 6 p. m. Thursday, November 5. Prof. Rightmire is a graduate of Ohio State and has been a member of the institution faculty since 1902.

In announcing the selection the board issued a statement saying "The board is taking cognizance of the repeatedly expressed desire of President Thompson to be permitted to retire November 5 when he will be 70 years of age."

The board indicated that it had made no tentative choice of a permanent successor, although it was reported that Prof. Rightmire will retain the presidency permanently.

Prof. Rightmire is one of the best loved members of the University faculty.

One of Monsignor Burke's legs was badly shattered while Joseph suffered severe scalp wounds and a broken ankle. The niece, Miss Marion Redner, was seated in one of the forward passenger seats on the big plane and escaped with her clothing torn. Miss Burke suffered internal injuries from which she died. Roger Thiery, pilot of the plane, had flown the party from Paris across the channel and encountered heavy fog on the English side. This forced him to fly low, he said, until he struck an oak tree near the Wadhurst Railway station.

COMMISSIONERS ARE GUESTS OF BRAND ON INSPECTION VISIT

Greene County Commissioners and the county surveyor were guests of Congressman Charles Brand, Urbana, Friday, when the congressman conducted them on a visit to view three gravel crushers near Urbana and for an inspection of several gravel roads with tar mat service in Champaign County.

The local party included Commissioners Herman W. Eavey, J. Harve Lackey and A. E. Beam and Surveyor W. J. Davis.

Officials paid a visit to a gravel pit north of Mutual, one near Kingscreek and the Snarr pit near Urbana, and were entertained at luncheon by Congressman Brand after the trip.

The trip was made in connection with an offer of Congressman Brand of $500 from his salary increase which he has refused to accept, toward the purchase of a stone crusher for use on roads in Greene County.

Commissioners have indicated the offer will be accepted and applied on a purchase of a stone crusher something, they point out that is badly needed to complete the county road outfit. County officials were also favorably impressed with the condition of gravel roads in Champaign County.

SLUM BIRTH RATE MAY RUIN ENGLAND DEAN INGE STATES

London, Oct. 17.—"The character of England is being changed for the worse by the extremely high birth rate in the slums."

So declared Dean Inge of St. Paul's Cathedral in an address before the Dolphin Coterie, supporting his contention with statistics showing a birth rate of 41 per 1,000 in Finsbury and 36 per 1,000 in Shoreditch, both slum sections of London, as compared with 9 per 1,000 in Westminster.

"It is certainly true," he continued, "that we are doing all we can to penalize the most undesirable part of our population—to tax them almost out of existence—in order to support a large number of masters whom the country would be very much better without."

"The lowest birth rate of all is in the learned professions—doctors, ministers and teachers. It would be a deplorable thing for England if the learned professions became extinct and the defective minded and the slums populated the country in their places."

THREE SENTENCED BY XENIA JURIST

Common Pleas Judge R. L. Gowdy, this city, sitting on the Miami County Common Pleas bench, Friday sentenced three Piqua men to Ohio penal institutions.

Judge Gowdy imposed the heaviest sentence on August Wood, who was given ten years in the Ohio State Penitentiary when he pleaded guilty to criminal attack.

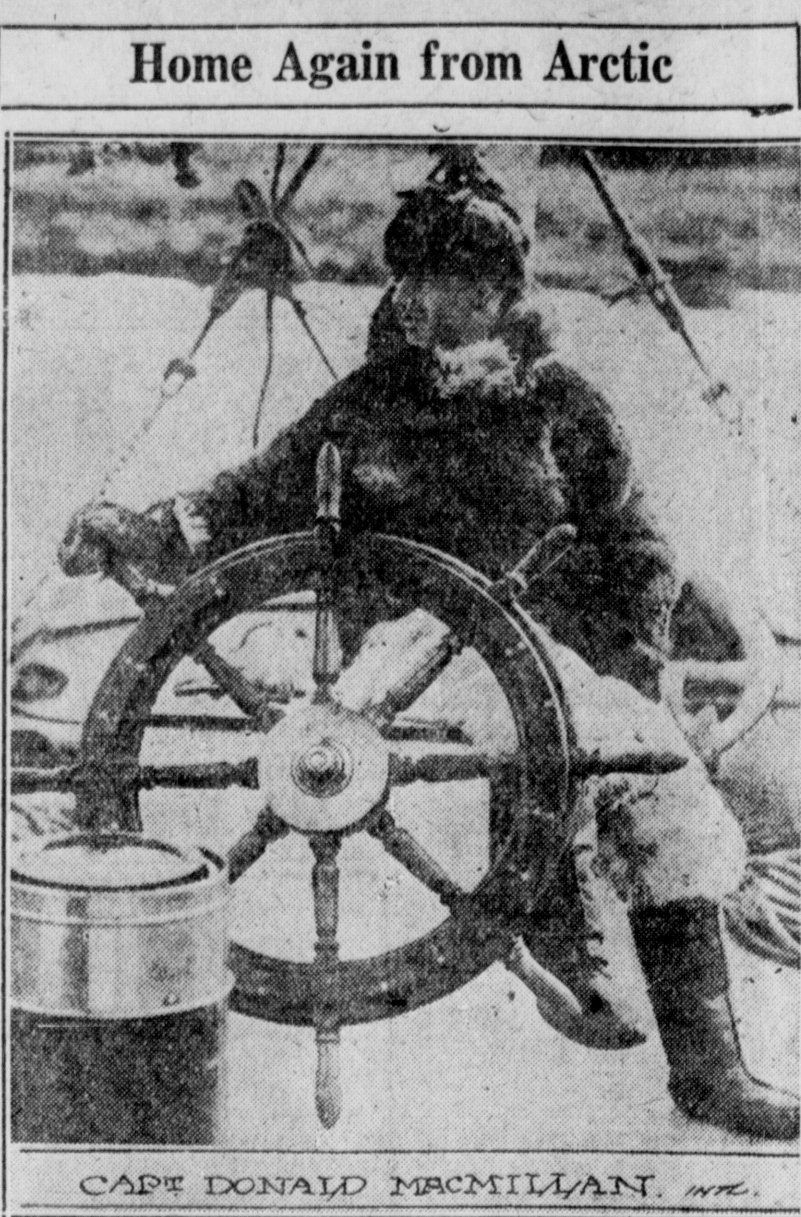

Albert Moham, 38, was sentenced to the state penitentiary for from one to seven years when he entered a plea of guilty to robbing a Baltimore and Ohio freight car.

Judge Gowdy inflicted an indeterminate sentence in the Mansfield reformatory upon Boyd Hollis, 23, accused of burglary.

MORE BARBER SHOPS

London, Oct. 17.—Owing to the popularity of "shingle blessedness" the number of hairdressing shops for women in London have tripled in the last two years.

In every part of the city shops are springing up daily. One Mayfair shop reports that whereas a year ago they had an average of 200 customers a week they now have a regular patronage of more than 500 "shingles" weekly.

Capt. Donald MacMillan, at the wheel of the Bowdoin, wore his Eskimo clothes as he steered the schooner down the New England coast on his way to New York.

CIVIL WAR HALTS EXECUTION OF MANY CONDEMNED TO DIE

Shanghai, China, Oct. 17.—More than 100 men and women, condemned by the International Mixed Court to die on charges of murder, robbery, kidnapping and other capital offenses are in jail here now awaiting execution of the court's sentence.

Many of them have been held for almost a year. The delay in carrying out the sentences imposed by the court is due to the disturbed conditions which have prevailed in Chinese territory adjacent to the International Settlement.

Under the regulations of the Mixed Court, the Court can merely recommend the death sentence, but cannot carry it out. The convicted men and women must be handed over to the Chinese military authorities for retrial and execution.

But since the first of the inter-provincial wars in the vicinity of Shanghai last year, there has been no legal Chinese military authority in the Shanghai area, and consequently there is no legal method of carrying out the death sentence.

Attempts to remedy the deficiency are now being made by the Chinese authorities. Several military courts have been set up, but each has been of an outlaw nature and so far recognition has been denied all of them by the Chinese and foreign authorities.

POLES WILL HONOR COMMISSION ON TRIP

Cleveland, O. Oct. 17.—Seven thousand Poles living in Cleveland will honor the Polish Parliamentary Commission when that body stops here October 22 on its tour of the cities with large Polish population in the middle west.

The group will be met by a committee when it docks here and will be feted throughout the entire day. City Manager W. R. Hopkins will welcome the delegation. A huge reception is planned for the evening.

ENSEMBLE CONCERT SUCCESSFULLY GIVEN

Dayton Memorial Hall was filled Friday night for the presentation of the twelve-piano concert, in which Mrs. Robert Arthur Kelly, this city, appeared. Pianists from Dayton and other nearby cities appeared on the program, under the direction of Rudolph Ganz, world-renowned pianist and conductor of the St. Louis Symphony Orchestra.

The concert was given under the sponsorship of the Dayton Civic Music League and Mrs. Edward A. Deeds, and was the fifth of its kind ever given. Proceeds went to the children's wards of the Miami Valley and St. Elizabeth Hospitals, checks for $1,000 each being presented these institutions.

The program began with J. S. Bach's concerto in C Minor. This was followed by "Variations" by Sinding, both of which were well presented. The true tone effect of the ensemble was brought out in the strains of Arensky's "Romance" and Chabrier's "Española Rhapsody." The difficult Grainger's "Children's March" was effectively executed. "Traumeral" and "Turkey in the Straw" were later numbers.

Mr. Ganz was presented a gold and ivory baton by Mr. and Mrs. Deeds, the presentation speech being made by John A. MacMillan, president of the Civic Music League. Mr. Ganz, in a short talk thanked the participants who gave much time to the success of the program.

The twelve pianists were: Mrs. Robert McClure, Mrs. T. T. Pontius, Mrs. Robert S. Walton, Mrs. Leslie MacDill, Mrs. Mary Blue Morris, Mrs. Esther Thompson Hein, Miss Alverda Sinks, Miss Martha Smith, Miss Eusebia Simpson, Dayton; Mrs. E. E. Hubbard, Niagara; Mrs. Wabash, Ind.; Mrs. Robert A. Kelly, Xenia; and Mrs. Mathilda Rokoff, Troy. A number of Xenia music lovers attended the concert.

MISS GEGNER RECEIVES AT PARTY ON BIRTHDAY

Miss Dorothy Gegner of Yellow Springs, was a charming little hostess to sixteen of her girl friends at a party Friday afternoon, the occasion being her tenth birthday.

The afternoon was spent in games and contests for which prizes were awarded. The color scheme of black and orange suggestive of the Halloween season, was carried out in the refreshments and decorations of the Gegner home. Little Miss Gegner received many lovely gifts.

Those attending the party were: Esther Weiss, Edna Marie Osborne, Martha Collins, Betty Lou Brenner, Janet Littleton, Mary Jane and Betty Lou Strauss, Martha Dell, Joan Higgins, Kathleen and Julia White, Juanita Fancher, Dorothy and Helen Gegner, of Yellow Springs, Janet Hamilton and Mildred Mason of Xenia.

BIRTHDAY DINNER

Thirty-five relatives of Mrs. Frances Darnier met at her home on the Fairfield Pike, Sunday, the occasion being her seventy-seventh birthday. At noon a basket dinner was enjoyed. The table was centered with a large birthday cake, bearing seventy-seven pink and white candles. Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. T. V. Darnier and family, Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Darnier and family, Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Darnier and family, Mrs. Bertha Linsmayer and son, Mr. J. A. Darnier, Mr. W. A. Hinsey and Mrs. Frances Darnier.

SOCIAL CLUB IS ENTERTAINED WEDNESDAY

Mrs. Wilbur R. Conley of Cedarville, was a charming hostess to the members of the Clark's Run Social Club at their regular meeting Wednesday afternoon.

A short business session was held, after which a social hour was enjoyed. Large baskets of dahlias were used in decorating the rooms.

A refreshment course was served. Mrs. Hannah Mills of Chicago, Mrs. J. H. Thordson and Miss Edna Hanna were invited guests for the afternoon.

Mrs. Laura Alexander is leaving Saturday night for Warren, Pa., to visit Mrs. Frank Dubois for a week or ten days.

Mr. Milton Christy, Jamestown, is recovering from a severe attack of grip.

Mrs. L. M. Garfield is visiting in Chicago, Ill., with her daughter, Mrs. Clarence Whitmer and family.

Mr. and Mrs. L. D. Wilson have purchased the residence of Mr. and Mrs. B. A. Stiff, West Third Street. Mr. and Mrs. Stiff will move to Cincinnati soon.

E. R. Bryant, head of the Ford Motor Agency, Market and Green Streets, and brother-in-law of Henry Ford, has taken charge of a Ford agency at Dearborn, Mich. Mr. and Mrs. Bryant are building a home in Dearborn and Mr. Bryant will divide his time between that city and Xenia. The Bryant family will not move for several months.

Mr. Fred Van Tress, near Xenia, spent Thursday and Friday in Indianapolis, attending the National Dairy Show.

Mr. and Mrs. Gill Schweibold, who have been visiting two weeks in Xenia, are leaving for their home in Detroit, Sunday.

Convention in session there.

JUDGE DISMISSES PLAYERS OF PRANKS

Halloween with its annual gala celebrations has a place in the heart of Police Judge E. Dawson Smith despite cases when observance begins several weeks too early.

Complaints of premature Halloween pranks caused the arrest of seven Xenia youths ranging in ages from sixteen to twenty Friday night by police.

The seven spent the night at Police Headquarters but their cases were dismissed Saturday by Judge Smith who realized the mitigating circumstances. Throwing corn cobs against protected windows does not constitute a major offense in the opinion of the judge, who however, gave them some friendly advice on the question.

M'COOK COMMANDER DENIES FATAL SHIP HAD BEEN CONDEMNED

Dayton, Oct. 17.—Major J. F. Curry, commandant at McCook Field, at noon today said that reports carried by another press association, to the effect that the Honeymoon Express had been condemned were ridiculous.

It was the Honeymoon Express, which crashed Friday evening carrying two Dayton newspapermen and a Wilbur Wright Field pilot to their death in the hills of Pennsylvania. Major Curry then amplified his statement by saying: "Every ship on this field is thoroughly inspected regularly. Every ship wheeled out on the line is examined every morning before any pilot takes the air. If defects are discovered, regardless of whether they are serious or minor ones, the ship is ordered to the hangars for repairs. This is the daily routine at McCook Field and the Honeymoon Express was no exception.

MODISH MITZI—Mitzi Looks at Some Styles in Fur Wraps

By JAY V. JAY

Mitzi looks so well in mink. Even Aunt Sophia has to admit it. The shawl collar is very stunning and bell sleeves, too. "That extravagant child!" thinks Aunt Sophia, all the time wanting to buy a whole store for Mitzi if she wanted it. Well, Mitzi is going to try on some more.

Mitzi has just announced that she is going to look for a fur coat. Dad is completely out of the picture; he knows that he will come in later. Aunt Sophia, reading her morning mail, reports a showing of fur coats at several stores—perhaps they can go shopping together. Aunt Sophia likes to look after Dad's interests—and his pocketbook.

This cocoa caracul coat has a jabot collar and large full sleeves. The sleeves are trimmed with baum marten, so is the collar. Caracul is to be very much used this winter as is pony skin.

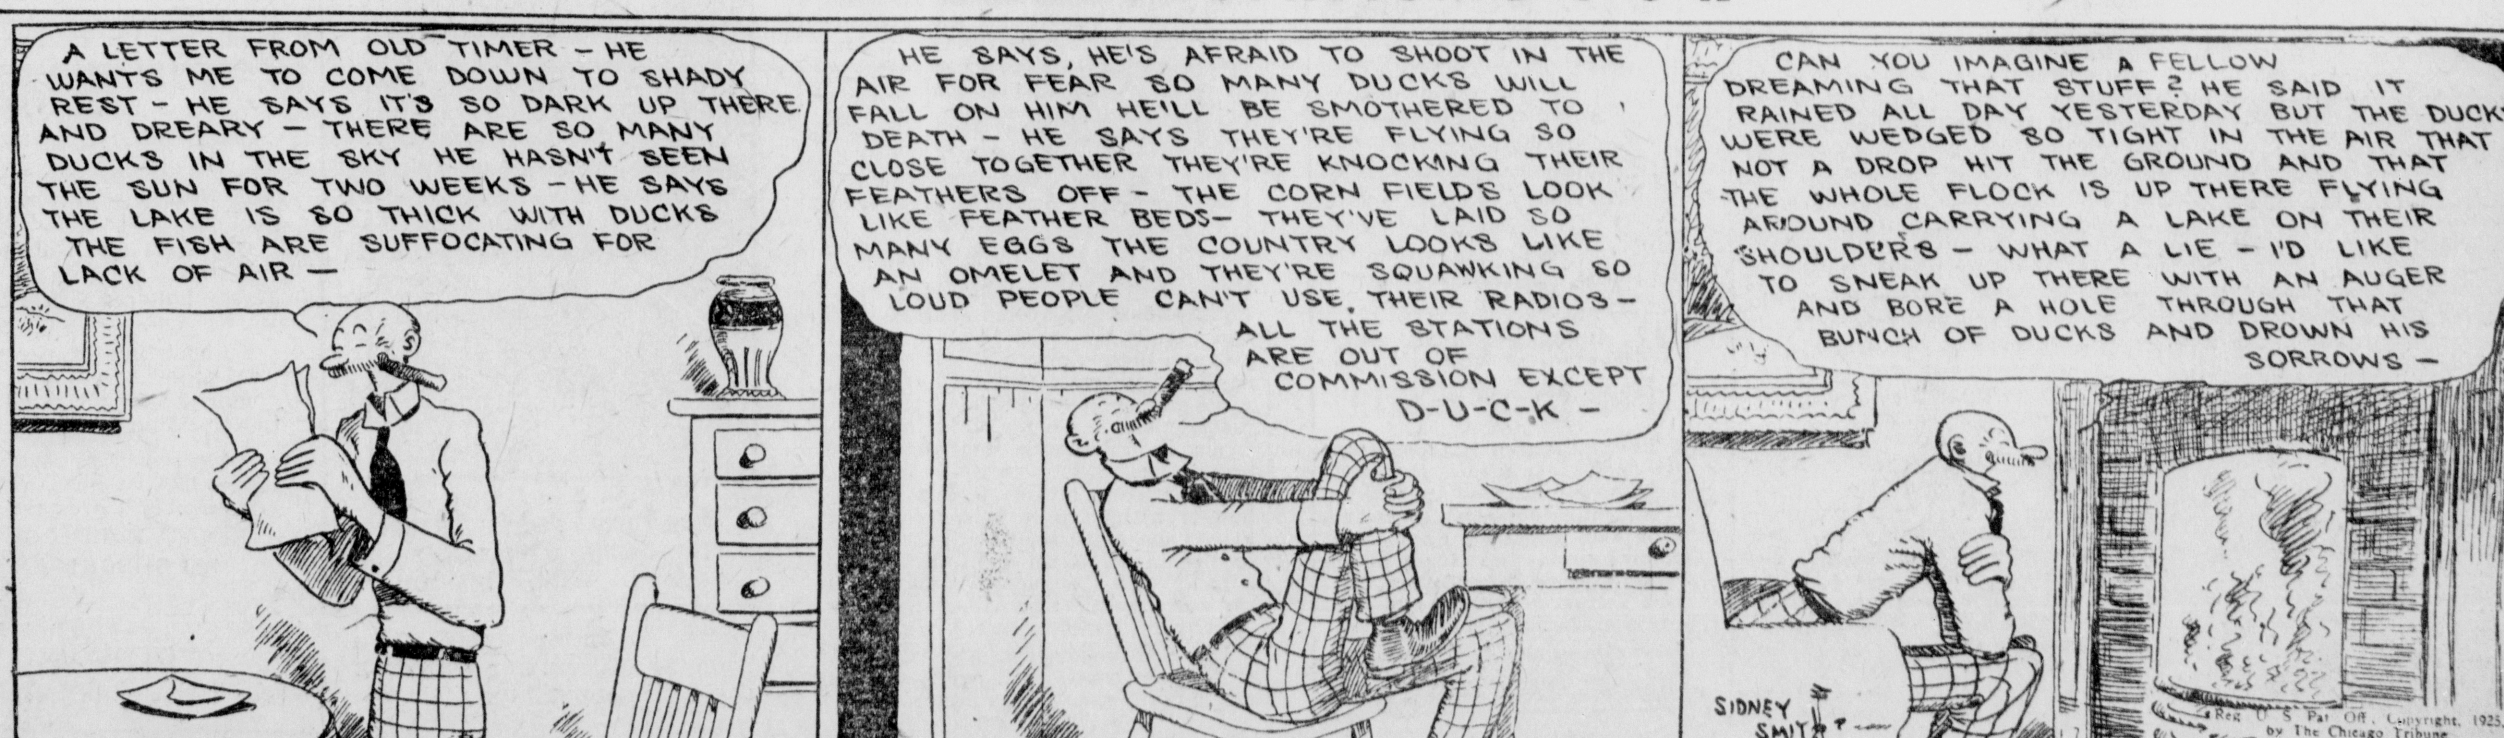

This wrap around style has lynx collar and cuffs. The collar, incidentally, has lynx right to the hem of the skirt of the coat. It is very unusual in effect for it carries straight wrapped lines. Aunt Sophia is wondering which Mitzi will take when she is relieved to hear her say: "I was just looking thank you."

GOOD TIME FOR STUDY.

PEOPLE excuse themselves for reading light literature in summer because the weather is too hot for anything informative. But that excuse has now gone.

Why not try to learn something during the months of cool and bright weather just ahead? Try picking out two or three subjects that you would like to know something more about. One of them might well be something affecting the line of work you are engaged in. One of them could well be something about history, so you will know a bit more of human progress. A third subject might be the science of politics and government, so you will have ideas on making a better country.

Every citizen who wants to become more useful, ought to read at least half a dozen good books during the next six months. By so doing you will have many more things to talk and think about. When you obtain broader intelligence, you increase your capacity for successful work.

U. S. AND MINORITIES.

THE Interparliamentary Union conference was the occasion for the criticism by Dr. Wilhelm Medinger, Czechoslovakian delegate, of the American policy isolation from Europe. He can not understand why the United States persists in its refusal to intermeddle in European politics.

The delegate from Czechoslovakia is also concerned with the future of the European minorities which he says are suffering under the conditions imposed by the Versailles treaty. What would Doctor Medinger think of American intervention and the rights of minorities if the United States should accept his challenge and guarantee German domination for the German minority in the Republic of Czechoslovakia?

Foreign visitors, of course, have no way of knowing that the suggestion that the United States should concern itself with the wrangling and bellicose minorities in Europe is very distasteful to the people of this country. The American people can not sympathize with the cause of the European minorities. In the single city of New York are minorities greater than those which are making such a howl against the "oppression" of their governments. The United States has as many minorities as all Europe but they do not make demands for special concessions, such as the public maintenance of schools teaching their native languages, adoption of their tongue as the "official" language of the nation, and similar trifles.

Alien minorities which find things in this country not to their liking are respectfully reminded that they are at liberty to return to their mother country. The danger from applying this policy to European republics rests in the fact that some of them would have no population left if they deported their many minorities.

CREATING A SHRINE.

A VIRGINIA family has contributed funds for the purchase of the Warwick Priory, one of England's venerated twelfth century buildings, to provide materials for the reproduction near Richmond, Va., of Sulgrave Manor, the ancestral home in England of the Washingtons.

It is fitting that the English home of the Washingtons should find its counterpart in this country and just as appropriate that it should be placed in Washington's own state, Virginia, not many miles from his home, Mount Vernon.

But Warwick Priory is a landmark in England and a cherished relic of past civilization. To the English its preservation is probably of greater concern than the use of its centuries-old stones to add realism to the proposed reproduction of Sulgrave Manor will be to the Virginians.

It seems unfortunate that the reproduction of Sulgrave Manor in Virginia should necessitate the bruising of English feelings and the destruction of an historic priory as well. Surely there is some way by which Virginia can have her manor and England keep her priory.

Americans have often, heretofore, contributed generously, and even lavishly, to the preservation and restoration of historic buildings in England and other foreign countries, but this is the first time American gold has sought to "destroy" one of them. It is not surprising that the incident has led to new proposals in England for legislation preventing the removal of historic treasures.

INVESTMENTS

I have some extra dollars which were better saved than spent. And so I'll buy a gilt-edged bond to earn me four per cent; I'll call that an investment, 'tis a term all bankers use. But one which money-minded men so frequently abuse. Not all investments pay in gold, some pay in peace of mind, And some in happy memories of days when we were kind.

Life gives us countless dividends in payment for our deeds. The marigolds are coupons which we cut from planted seeds. The good will of our neighbors is a joy which we collect. From having neighbored with them in a way they could respect.

Our children are investments, too, in which our worth shall show. For seldom 'tis by luck or chance good men and women grow. We are investors, one and all, by each a choice is made. Some risk their lives in art and some invest them in a trade. And who shall give his best to life shall reap his dividends. In peace of mind and happiness, the love and trust of friends; But who invests in selfishness, in cunning or in shame, Shall find, however filled his purse, he's played a losing game.

Bleak poverty of spirit is a failure that is worse. Than the error of wrong judgment which brings poverty to purse. For money may be squandered, and a stock not worth its cost, But a good name lives forever and a kind deed's never lost. So I'd invest my hands and brain in all life's finer things. And seek the compensation which that sort of venture brings.

Two Reader Friends have written to ask for an article on cleaning silver. Of course the quickest method of cleaning small pieces, or table cutlery, is just to pile it on the wire grids of a zinc plate placed in the bottom of a kettle, after you have filled this kettle three-quarters full of boiling water in which you have dissolved one tablespoon of baking soda and one-half cup of salt to the gallon. These zinc plates can be bought wherever kitchen furnishings are sold. Although the directions usually accompanying them do not mention the fact, your silver will be much whiter and brighter looking if you boil it in the above-given solution for five minutes. At the expiration of this period, set the kettle under the cold water faucet and let the water run till the silver is cool enough to be handled, then put it into a pan of hot suds and wash as usual, adding a little ammonia to this wash water. Rinse and dry thoroughly. This way of cleaning silver is harmless and gives a satin finish rather than a brightly burnished effect. After several repetitions, this method often tends to give a yellowish cast to the silver, but this can be overcome—or prevented—by polishing the silver in the usual manner with alcohol and sifted whiting (or any standard and polished) about every third or fourth time it is cleaned, instead of using the zinc plate. Large pieces of silver, or silver watches or rings, which could not be immersed in the zinc-plate pan, must be polished by hand in the old way. Different housewives have different polishes; favorites some preferring whiting, some putty-powder, or a prepared polish. The powder is mixed to a thin paste with either water, alcohol or ammonia, and applied to the entire surface of the silver, then allowed to become dry before being rubbed off with a cloth of chambray. If the silver has a raised pattern, a brush is helpful for getting the powder out of the crevices. I am a firm believer in the prepared pastes and powders for polishing silver; all of them being good or they would not have endured.

After getting your silver clean, keep it clear and bright by placing pieces of gum camphor in the silver drawer or chest, and also by keeping as many pieces as possible in cotton flannel cases. Once a week, after washing but before wiping your table silver, place it for ten minutes in a basin containing this solution: One tablespoon each of salt and alum dissolved in one cup of boiling water and added to one quart of cool water in which one tablespoon of cream of tartar has been dissolved. Keep the mixture in a jar and use several times over.

AFTER BABY WAS BORN

Mrs. Miles Was Miserable a Long Time—Owes Final Recovery to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Dover, Ohio.—"After my last baby was born I was up and around again, but I was sickly all the time and did not know how to get my work done. I had washed a heavy carpet and I think that was the cause of my troubles. I went to several doctors, but their medicines did not do me any good. I asked what the trouble was, for I could hardly walk and always had such pains in my left side and then in my right side. He told me I had inflammation that caused it. I had one of your text-books and was reading it, and I thought I would take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. After four days of taking it I began to feel better, so I took three bottles without missing a dose. That helped me more than any other medicine I had yet taken and I always have it handy now. It surely did put me on my feet again."—Mrs. JAMES MILES, 419 Cherry Street, Dover, Ohio.

You must believe that a medicine that helps other women will help you. For sale by druggists everywhere.

WORLD'S MOTHER

Over disaster's wreckage,
Over the fields of grief—
An angel of mercy hovers,
Offering love's relief.

Greater than all things human,
Part of the Master's plan;
Spirit of hope and succor,
To suffering, homeless man.

Many a heart has spoken
Into her listening ear;
Many a family broken,
Has heeded her accents clear.

For there's often a hidden battle
Where no death bomb is hurled,
Through which she smiles like a star
Of faith—
The mother of all the world.

O symbol of love and mercy—
Red Cross on a field of white;
Who will not answer your clarion
Call?
Who will not follow your might?

TIGER AND NAVY IN ANNUAL STRUGGLE

Baltimore, Md., Oct. 17.—Adherents of Princeton University and the U. S. Naval academy gathered at Baltimore today to watch the annual grid struggle between the Tiger and navy goat. Cloudy skies overhung the rain soaked turf of the Baltimore stadium. The Princeton student body and the middies arrived at the stadium shortly before game time, the middies marching in formation behind the navy band.

Today's Talks

BE BIGGER THAN THE THING YOU DO

I care not what a man or woman does so long as he or she puts love and dignity into it.

It's what you empty from your heart that counts. I know many men who have built great fortunes and whose names are known for what they have done. But in meeting many of them, I find that they are much smaller than what they have done.

On the other hand I know of those who are working at mental tasks, yet whose character and fineness of spirit are things of inspiration.

Try to be bigger than the things you do.

Galsworthy tells the story of a shoemaker who made wonderful shoes. Since reading that story I find myself often thinking of that fine character who put the quality of his soul into the workmanship of his hands. He was much bigger than any pair of shoes he made. For, you see, his shoes had a big bit of himself in them.

One reason why I am so fascinated by the great bronze of Lincoln by Barnard is that there is so much of Barnard in that heroic task. Study that other wonderful piece by him called: "I Feel Two Natures Struggling Within Me," and again you see the humanity, the struggle and the triumph of the man himself depicted. The paintings and etchings on my library and office walls are a great daily inspiration to me because I see touches of the life and suffering of each artist therein.

Wrinkles in a face mean something to me. They mean much, to the world, too.

Do not get discouraged because people are not shouting your name from the housetops. Perhaps many more than you ever imagine are carrying the beauty of what you do around with them in their hearts and thus adding to the greatness of human character and carrying it to the farthest parts of the earth.

Just bear this in mind as you do your task today—try to be bigger than the thing you do.

NEW REFORMATION

Religious reformation aimed at science and evolution is on its way, the Rev. Charles Francis Potter, of Antioch College, Yellow Springs, said in an address in Youngstown, Thursday.

The Rev. Mr. Potter said politics and religion are becoming entwined and the next presidential campaign will have a religious issue.

JUST AS HARD HOLDING JOB UNDER SOVIET REGIME IN RUSSIA AS UNDER CAPITALIST

Moscow, Oct. 17.—The problem of getting and holding a job in the Soviet Union under the New Economic Policy is just as serious for the individual citizen as it is under a capitalist regime. The time has long passed when a Communist state attempted to force all citizens to labor and simultaneously guaranteed them against unemployment.

There are approximately 1,100,000 unemployed in the Soviet Union, according to the latest available figures, a fairly large number of one considers that the urban population of the country is only about 22,000,000. However, the situation is somewhat less acute than it was in the summer of 1924, when the number of unemployed was estimated at 1,400,000.

It is estimated that about 660,000 of the Russian jobless receive some form of public assistance. About 320,000 receive doles from funds provided by the state, the provincial and municipal administrations and trade unions. These doles vary from 7 to 25 rubles a month. Public works provide sufficient employment to take care of 160,000 unemployed for a period of two months. There are also 1,700 associations of unemployed. The members of these associations are mostly engaged in small trade and receive certain advantages in the shape of credits from the banks and reduced taxes.

The unemployed are divided into the following categories: 326,000 industrial workers, 355,000 brain workers, 275,000 unskilled laborers, 144,000 others.

It is a curious but unmistakable fact that unemployment in Russia has remained at a high figure while the country industries have been steadily expanding and increasing their production. This is due largely to two causes. With a view to cutting down overhead costs many government institutions and factories have been reducing their office staffs and this has thrown many office workers out of work.

Moreover, there has been a steady influx of poor peasants from the villages into the cities. As a rule these peasants are unskilled laborers and the industries cannot absorb them.

Along with the general unemployment ment there is an actual shortage of skilled workers, especially in the textile and metal industries. It is estimated that the textile industry will soon need seventy-two thousand experienced workers; and as the regular technical and industrial schools only turn out from three to three and a half thousand workers the textile unions will try to meet the demand in instituting special short term courses for the preparation of skilled workers. The metal industry also lacks 54,700 experienced workers.

POPULARITY OF RADIO GROWING IN JAPAN; AMATEURS HOPE TO PICK U. S. PROGRAMS

Osaka, Oct. 17.—The Department of Communication in Tokio was recently informed by the General Post Office Department of Australia that radio music broadcast from JOAK station in Tokio had been received clearly at Melbourne, Australia.

This was the first instance the Japanese radio had been received by a foreign nation.

Broadcasting in Japan is rapidly assuming an international aspect. Japan at present has three broadcast stations, JOAK (Tokio) JOBK (Osaka), JOCK (Nagoya) and another will be built at Fukuoka in Kyushu district.

But JOAK is the only station at Tokio that has permanent equipment at present. The other two are now sending out their programs from provisional stations.

The wave length and antennae current of each station is as follows:

Tokio (JOAK) wave length, 375 meters, antennae current, 1 kilowatt. Osaka (JOBK), wave length, 335 meters, antennae current 50 watt. Nagoya (JOCK) wave length, 365 meters, antennae current 1 kilowatt.

Each station begins its broadcast of their programs at 9 p. m., while their programs end at 9 p. m., while Tokio continues to 9:30 p. m.

Several hundred thousand Japanese homes are equipped with some sort of receiving sets and many of them have high-class sets.

The present receiving record is held by a Kobe amateur who successfully received Tokio station with his crystal set for three successive evenings after the Osaka program was over. The distance between Kobe and Tokio is about 373 miles.

Owing to the atmospheric disturbances and also to the dampness of the air, Japanese radio fans find it very difficult to hear the programs broadcast from foreign stations. Although some government wireless stations succeeded in receiving programs from Oakland station in California amateurs do not have the same good reception as enjoyed by other nations. Some of them, however, are eagerly attempting to pick up Pittsburgh or Schenectady.

SYNOPSIS

John Mannering, district attorney, has just learned by telephone that his wife, Eileen, was seen in a notorious inn when it was raided. Then comes word that Eileen is now in the apartment of Jerome Wallace, his opponent in the approaching election. Mrs. Mannering has gone there to demand from Wallace a written pledge that, if elected, he will release young Bob Mannering, accused of causing the death of a woman in an automobile smash.

As he turned to the table and produced paper and pen she paused at his elbow watching his movements eagerly.

But even as the pen touched the paper he hesitated, waited deliberately, as if with calculating cruelty wishing to play upon Eileen's overwrought nerves. Suddenly a great tenderness seized him, he reached for her hand and drew her towards him.

"Eileen," he murmured softly. Horrified, she pulled away. He leaned closer, his manner insistent and all pretense cast aside. She recoiled from him, her scorn of him plain.

His jaw set and with a glint of anger in his eyes, he laid the pen aside.

Eileen watched him aghast. She had lost—Bob had lost—ah, yes, and John had lost.

"Please, please," she pleaded, growing hysterical again.

"Why should I trouble? If you can be unkind so can I."

"I shall tell my husband," she cried frantically.

Wallace laughed.

Wallace pressed warm kisses on her hair.

"I shall tell the newspaper—the world—everyone—how you have tricked me."

He looked her steadily in the eye.

"I shall deny it, say that you did it of your own volition."

She received his answer with the utmost contempt.

"Who would believe you? What possible motive would I have for doing it?"

"My love," he retorted, and more deliberately than his meaning might sink home, "My dear, you loved me enough to betray your husband so that I could win the election."

She laughed scornfully, but it was uncertain before his calmness.

"Why," he went on, "you haven't even been so kind as to furnish me your admission." From the table drawer he drew forth a picture.

There was the old mat bearing the inscription, "To Jerry dearest—success, and all my love, Eileen."

But now in place of her girlish portrait appeared her latest picture, the one she had sent him that very morning.

"You see, I hold all the trumps," said Wallace with a note of triumph. "But if you had not tried to drive me I would have given you that statement."

She seemed to find a ray of hope in his tones, for her sobbing lessened.

Her tears ceased to flow and as she busied herself with her vanity case she even managed a shy half friendly smile.

Suspicious of the sudden change in her, he watched her. As she gazed down at the picture on the table, clearly at a loss to account for the presence of her writing there, he never took his eyes off of her.

Finally satisfied, he produced the old print he had replaced on the mat and laid it before her.

Understanding leaped into her eyes and with it something more.

"So you have kept that picture all these years, have you?" she said, regarding him timidly. "I never realized that you cared—that much."

Suddenly with flaming eyes he caught her by the arms and drew her towards him.

"I've always cared, I always will," he breathed huskily.

"Jerry," she whispered.

Yet, assured now of his triumph, Wallace pressed warm kisses on her hair. But always when he sought her lips she evaded him, to finally pull away with a tremulous little laugh.

"And to think I ever doubted you, Jerry."

He eyed her eagerly and, still clinging to her hand, drew her to his side.

Beside the table she playfully opened the drawer, took out some paper and placed it before him.

She had overplayed her game. Suspicion leaped into his eyes.

"Please, Jerry," she whispered softly.

He frowned, then turned impatiently from her.

She could have cried aloud with vexation. But it was all for Bob; she must not give up. Now, she was at Wallace's side, her hand upon his shoulder, and when she spoke there was injury in her tones.

"Now that we have found each other, don't fail me, dear. Let me believe in you."

Indifference held him, but after a moment he reached forth and touched her hair, and it was as if he fell anew under the spell of her.

"And you care enough to leave Mannering and come to me?"

What a question. It made Eileen pause. How far dared she go with this man? Then came the memory of Bob. She nodded her head.

With a sharp intake of breath he gathered her hungrily into his arms, but gently she drew away from him.

"You don't trust me, Jerry, and without trust there is no love."

"I'll prove it to you," he exclaimed, and would have embraced her anew. But resolutely she shook her head. Then, without another word, he turned to the table and reached for his pen.

Yet, even as he did so, even as Eileen waited there beside him with her hand upon his shoulder, there came a sound from the hallway. Headless of the Japanese servant's protests, John Mannering was approaching.

"A trap," muttered Wallace, casting the pen aside and leaping to his feet.

And in that instant Eileen saw all her planning come to grief, and in her woe turned to the man she loved.

"John!" she cried hysterically.

"John!"

He paused in the doorway adjusting himself to what he saw. It was true, then. Eileen was with Wallace.

Now, thrusting the Japanese servant aside, he strode into the room.

With a cry, Eileen rushed to her husband's side and mechanically his arm enfolded her, but his eyes were upon Wallace, who waited on the defensive. For a minute John paused as if expecting some explanation. Then, he looked down at Eileen and spoke in a strange, toneless voice.

"Dryden of the Star just called me on the telephone—something about you being in a raid on a road house."

She looked up at him.

"You know, then."

Ah, she did not even deny it. John's arm dropped from about her and horror crept into his eyes.

"I had to do it, John, I had to do it so that he would be elected," she protested wildly.

John gasped, and his eyes smoldering with a mighty passion shifted to Wallace, standing with a cynical smile upon his face.

Her terror increased by the attitude of the two men, Eileen fairly beat her hands together in a perfect frenzy lest her husband might not understand.

"I had to do it, John, can't you understand? I just had to do it for him."

But John, almost throwing her out of his way, strode over to the table. Picking the picture up, he stared at it for a moment as if he could not believe his own eyes. Then, with a terrible cry, he crushed it in his hands. As Eileen clutched at him with inarticulate explanations, he turned on her, his voice hoarse and choked.

OHIO BEATS WEST AS LAMB MARKET SPECIALIST SAYS

Ohio lamb feeders can expect a bigger figure on the profit side of the ledger next spring by buying native lambs in preference to western lambs this fall.

Admitting that that is contrary to common belief and practice in Ohio, L. A. Kauffman, livestock extension specialist at the Ohio State University explains it this way:

"Western feeding lambs are delivering at Ohio points at from $16 to $17 per cwt. Ohio mutton and fine wool lambs are costing from $12 to $14.50 per cwt. Feeders in Ohio have in the past preferred western lambs because they are free of parasites, particularly stomach worms.

"Thin native lambs, however, when treated for stomach worms, make the more profitable feeders.

"In 1923 and 1924 Bell of the Ohio Agricultural Experiment Station at Wooster ran some winter feeding tests with western, Ohio mutton, and Ohio fine wool lambs. Native mutton lambs gained rapidly and economically as did the Westerns. The native fine wools, however, did not gain as rapidly or as cheaply.

"Due largely to a lower initial cost and heavier fleece (especially on the fine wools), the native lambs returned a greater profit. The western lambs returned, over feed costs, a profit of $3.19 apiece; native mutton lambs, $5.71; native fine wools, $1.69.

"Since the treatment for stomach worms costs but a fraction of a cent a head, Ohio feeders should be able to get their lambs at a much lower cost by buying natives and treating them."

OHIO FARM AGENTS CALLED TO CAPITAL TO ATTEND MEETING

The Ohio State University's field staff in agriculture and home economics—the county agents, club agents, and home demonstration agents located in 85 of the state's 88 counties—will desert their several counties next week and assemble in Columbus for the annual extension conference, October 20 to 25.

It is mainly to allow the extension agents to brush up on their teaching methods, their personal efficiency, and their vision of the nation-wide agricultural extension program that the annual conferences are held in Ohio. H. C. Ramsower, director of the Ohio Agricultural College Extension Service explains.

"Technical knowledge in agriculture," Director Ramsower says, "is fairly easy for the agents to get through the year by correspondence with the college and experiment station, or by bulletins. So our annual conferences are devoted to broader fields, fields in which the farm family as human beings occupy the center of the stage."

To that end the conference program this year includes a series of talks by out-of-state university authorities on the psychology of personal efficiency, the social organization of rural groups, rural recreation, and the relation between the social and the economic program in agriculture.

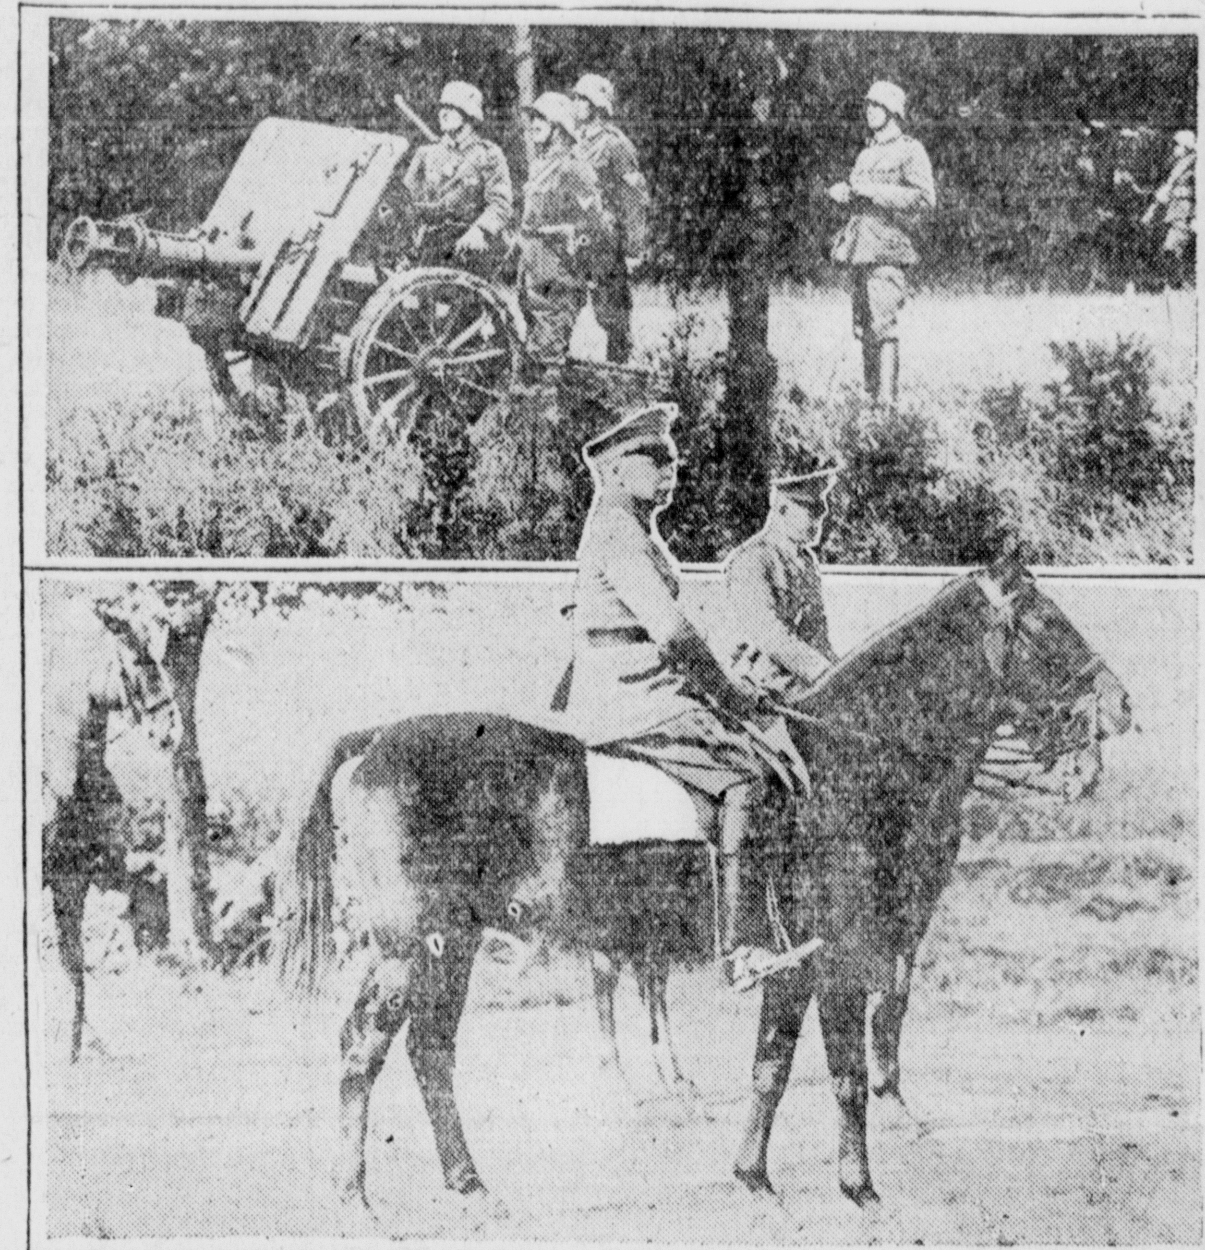

Dean Alfred Vivian, President W. O. Thompson, Dr. J. I. Falconer and Director Ramsower are on the program to represent the Ohio State University.

Central High School's second team and the Lebanon High first eleven battled thirty-six minutes to a scoreless tie under the most trying weather conditions Friday afternoon at Lebanon.

A hard rain made the gridiron resemble a miniature lake and players experienced difficulty in obtaining a firm footing. Weather conditions permitted only the use of straight football tactics but strangely fumbles were infrequent.
Central's defense left nothing to be desired and the local goal line was endangered but once during the game when in the second period Lebanon managed to shove the oval to the seven yard line before losing the ball. Central's subs showed flashes of good form during the game but an inconsistent attack prevented a score. Donovan's long run of fifty-five yards in the second quarter when he skirted end on a fake play was one of the principal features of the game. With Stearns and Morton bearing the brunt of the attack, Central submerged its opponents under smashing line plays which however, failed to produce a score at critical moments. Three times Central worked the ball within scoring distance only to lose possession because of fumbles or a lapse in attack.
Morton played sensationally at half and crashed the line time and again

NOTRE DAME FAVORED

TO DEFEAT ARMY 11

BEFORE HUGE CROWD

BY HENRY L. FARRELL

New York, Oct. 17 - Before an expected crowd of 70,000 a record football throng for this city, the Army and Notre Dame will clash on a slippery field this afternoon.
The Hoosiers, who have not been beaten by the cadets since 1916, are 7 to 5 favorites.
The odds are in Notre Dame's favor, mainly because of the coaching skill of Knute Rockne.
The probable line up:
Notre Dame Army
Crows (c) - LT - Baxter
J. Smith - LT - Sprague
D. Smith - LG - Schmidt
Maxwell - LG - Schmidt
Mayer - RG - Seeman
Mannon - RT - Saunders
Rigall - RE - Born
Edwards - LB - Yoemans
O'Boyle - QB - Gilbreath
Hearnoud - RH - Scheiffel

WITTENBERG WILL

ENTERTAIN AT GRID

CONTEST NEXT WEEK

Wittenberg college plays host again to school teachers, school children and newspaper editors at the annual County School Day, at Springfield, October 24.
Wittenberg football players will meet their fifth opponent of the season in Heidelberg college from Tiffin. The Lutherans are playing a nine conference game schedule this season and are a fast, dangerous combination under the direction of Coach E. R. Godfrey and Assistant W. J. Trautwein. Eight thousand persons are expected in the stadium Saturday.
Air bombs are shot into the air every time Wittenberg scores, and the Lutheran followers are hoping that the Saturday before Halloween will be a noisy holiday.

GAME POSTPONED

BECAUSE OF RAIN

Steady rainfall throughout the day converted the playing field at the O. S. and S. O. Home into a veritable sea of mud and necessitated postponement of the scheduled football game between the Home eleven and Bath Township High School Friday afternoon. The game will be played on a later date at the institution. Probably October 30, it is announced. The Home team was primed to make an effort to win its first game of the season and incidentally register the first grid victory in the history of the institution and the postponement was a bitter pill.
An effort may be made to schedule a contest with Coach Kolb's Central High School eleven, it is said.

Bowling

The Bayliffs took three uninteresting games from the Critteron "5" in the Xenia Bowling League Friday night. It was an off night for members of both teams and the bowling was far below league standards. Mace Whitington turned in the best individual score of the match. Box score:

PROPOSED AMENDMENTS TO THE CONSTITUTION OF OHIO

ARTICLE VIII, SECTION 13

PROPOSING TO AMEND ARTICLE VIII OF THE CONSTITUTION OF THE STATE OF OHIO BY THE ADDITION OF A NEW SECTION 13, TO READ AS FOLLOWS: ARTICLE VIII, SECTION 13. RELATIVE TO THE INCURRING OF INDEBTEDNESS BY POLITICAL SUBDIVISIONS.
Be it resolved by the General Assembly of the State of Ohio, three-fifths of the members elected to each house concurring therein: That there shall be submitted to the electors of the state the following proposition to amend the constitution of the State of Ohio, to be held on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November, 1925, a proposal to amend article VIII, section 13, to read as follows:
ARTICLE VIII.
Sec. 13. No bonds, notes, certificates of indebtedness, or judgment evidence of indebtedness, shall be issued by any county, school district, township, municipal corporation or other political subdivision, incurring debt for current operating expense, or for the acquisition or construction of any property or improvement, having a term of years exceeding five years; but laws may be passed authorizing borrowing for a period not exceeding six months in any year, for the purpose of providing for the current fiscal year in which such indebtedness is incurred, or authorizing indebtedness in anticipation of the collection of special assessments or for defraying the expenses of an extraordinary epidemic or other emergency expense not necessary by sudden casualty which could not reasonably have been foreseen, or to provide for the payment of final judgments for personal injuries or other non-contractual obligations. No bonds or notes issued for the acquisition or construction of property or improvements, to be estimated or determined as provided by laws fixing maximum maturities herein authorized. Laws shall be passed to fix the fiscal years of political subdivisions and tax districts, and to designate the boards or officers by whom and the manner in which the estimates as to the period of usefulness of property or improvements shall be made and certified. Within the limitations of this section, laws may be passed fixing the maximum maturity of bonds or notes issued for any purpose or class of purposes.
Be it resolved by the General Assembly of the State of Ohio, three-fifths of the members elected to each house concurring therein: That there shall be submitted to the electors of the state for their approval or rejection, at the election to be held on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November, 1925, a proposal to amend article XII, section 2 of the constitution of the state of Ohio, to read as follows:
ARTICLE XII.
Sec. 2. Laws shall be passed, taxing by a uniform rule the real estate and improvements thereon and all tangible personal property, according to their true value in money, excepting motor vehicles which shall be taxed as provided by law. All moneys, credits, bonds, stocks and other intangible property, shall be taxed as may be provided by law. But all bonds outstanding on the first day of January, 1913, of the state of Ohio or of any city, village, hamlet, town or township of this state or which have been issued in behalf of the public schools in Ohio and the means of this constitution for the world war compensation fund, shall be exempt from taxation; and burning grounds, public school houses, houses used exclusively for charitable purposes, public property used exclusively for any public purpose, and tangible personal property of amount not exceeding in value five hundred dollars for any individual, may by general laws, be exempted from taxation; and laws may be passed to provide for the double taxation that results from the taxation of both the real estate and the improvements thereon, but all such laws shall be subject to alteration or repeal; and the value of all property, so exempted, shall, from time to time, be ascertained and qualified

OFFICERS OF RED CROSS BACK FROM NATIONAL MEETING

The Rev. W. H. Tilford, county chairman and Mrs. Sara H. Roberson, executive secretary of the Greene County Chapter of the American Red Cross, report a great national convention of the Red Cross, at St. Louis, just ended.

The convention city is but a few miles from the tri-state tornado disaster of last Spring, many people being in attendance from these areas and gave inspiring addresses concerning the effectiveness of the Red Cross in the disaster.

Others at the convention stressed the whole program of Red Cross, in the hospitals, production of materials for use around the world, for the Junior Red Cross with nearly 5,000,000 school children enrolled for world service; the work among ex-service men, the public health nursing service, the international relationships through the League of Red Cross societies, and nutrition services were also stressed.

An exhibition of Red Cross activities occupied one entire floor of the Statler Hotel. One of the many interesting items, the local delegates say was the preparation of books in Braille for blind soldiers, and others. Simultaneous conferences were held in life-saving, city chapter work, rural chapter work and for general discussion of problems.

Two expressions were heard over and over again, "The Greatest Mother in the World," and "The Good Samaritan for All." The outstanding impression of the convention to the local delegates was the type of people attracted to Red Cross service.

GAMBLING MENACES BOXING SITUATION FARRELL DECLARES

BY HENRY L. FARRELL

New York, Oct. 17.—Questionable decisions that have been given here after several recent ring contests of prominence have soured so many customers that the attendance has decreased noticeably at shows that should have drawn large crowds.

Tex Rickard, who has a five million dollar investment that depends partially, at least, on the future popularity and honesty of the game, admits that he is concerned.

"I've seen a lot of things that were done lately and heard of many and I've given the subject a lot of deep thought," he said. "We all know that gambling has hurt boxing, but we don't know how to stop it. As long as there is a sucker to cover their money, you can't keep the sure-thing fellows from operating."

"We closed up the betting shed in the old Garden and tried to keep out the rammers but it didn't stop betting. I don't mean friendly betting, where five and ten dollars are offered around the outside. I refer to the big operators who make the odds and bet in the thousands."

"The only way I can think of would be to amend the boxing law so that no-decision bouts would be permitted and let it be optional with the promoter whether a contest was to be a decision. I think it might work well if only championship fights went to a decision. The gamblers, of course, would have just as much chance to fix a championship fight, but they wouldn't have as many opportunities as they have now."

When he was asked what he thought about such an amendment to the Walker law, William Muldoon, veteran New York Boxing Commissioner, stormed in wrath.

"When it gets to the point that we have to admit our inability to fight those wolves, I'll go to Albany and ask the Legislature to repeal the boxing law," he declared.

Boxing, nearly every one agrees, is in a very shaky condition now in New York and a movement to repeal the law needs only a stout push from a reputable official like Muldoon to get the needed momentum.

Any effort to amend the law, according to Rickard's suggestion, would also be dangerous because there are too many men now in the Legislature who want only the excuse to take a crack at the whole act.

AMATEUR STAGE IS POPULAR IN RURAL OHIO IS LEARNED

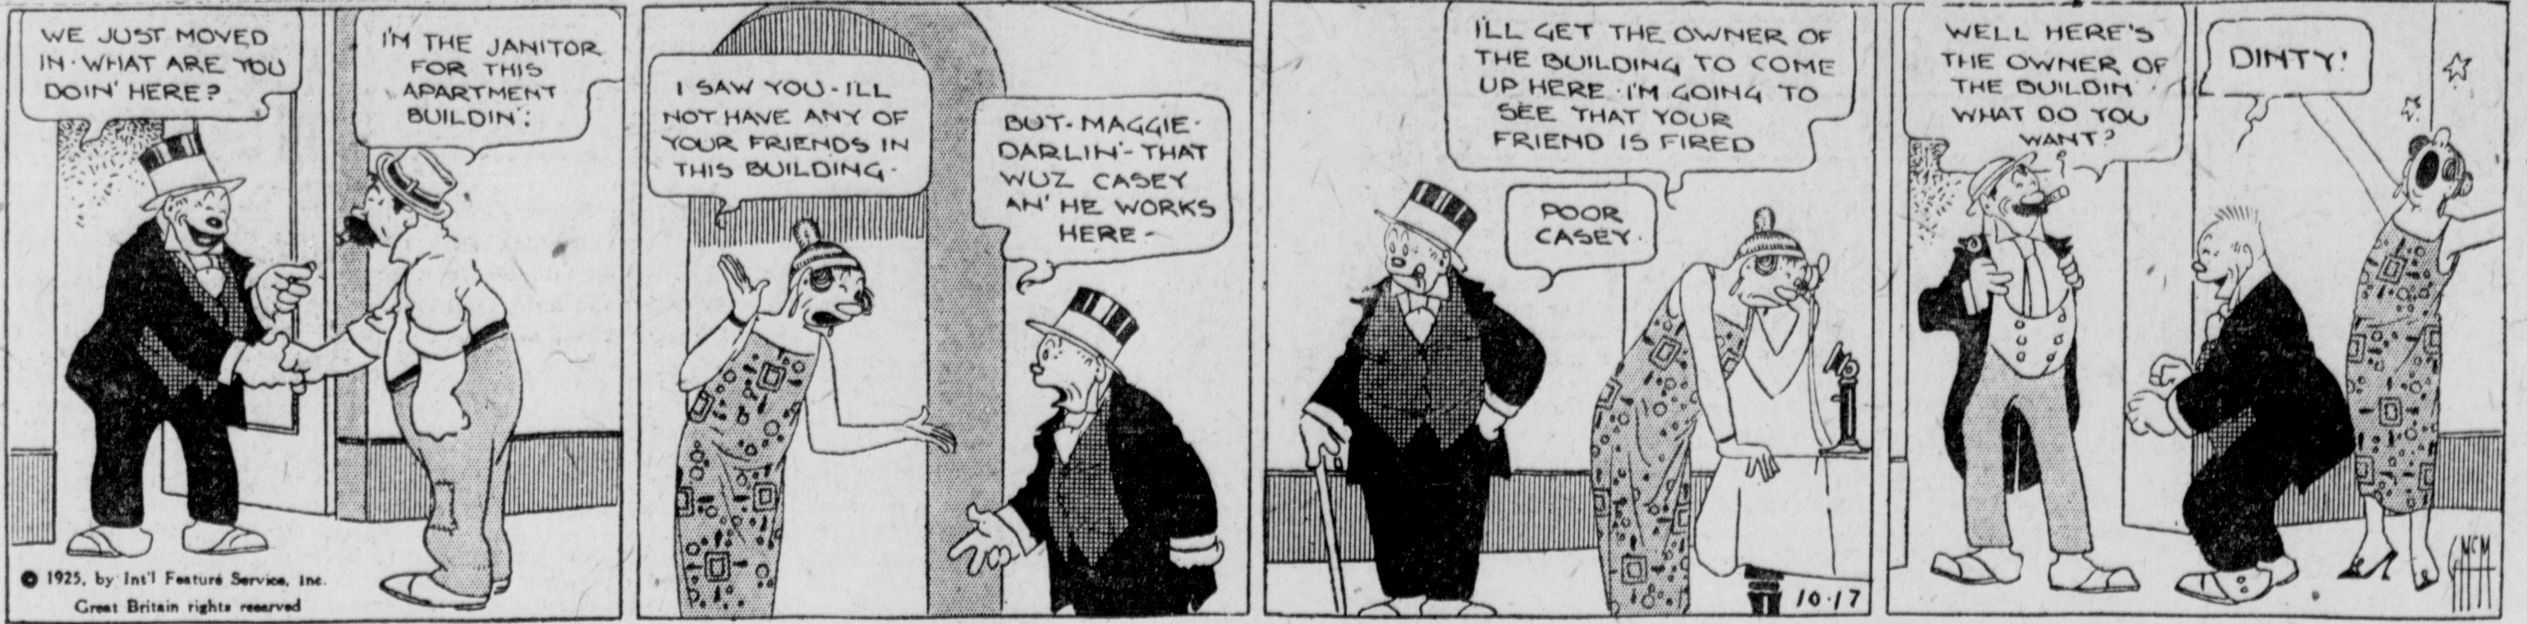

Amateur dramatics, not usually included in farm programs, has been written into the programs of rural communities in 20 Ohio counties for the first time this year.

Announcement of this comes from the agricultural college extension service at the Ohio State University, in proof that Ohio rural groups are as much interested in living as in making a living. It was in response to this demand that the state university on August 1 added to the agricultural extension staff a specialist in rural recreation, R. B. Toms, former county club agent in Summit County.

The new extension map had his first field meeting last week in Washington County with a group of 47 representatives from churches, schools, granges, and other community organizations. Some drove 60 miles to and from the all-day session.

At that meeting they discussed choosing and directing a play, then read several short ones over and became acquainted with stage directions and movements. At a second meeting next month the same group will study staging, lighting and costuming and at a third and final meeting some of the group will present a short play and all will study the art of make-up. Those who attended the three meetings, it is expected, will be better able to direct and stage plays for the organizations they represent.

BRINGING UP FATHER

Opera Prodigy, Sponsored By City, Achieves Roles at Metropolitan

Marion Talley, singing daughter of a telegraph operator, trained abroad with funds provided by popular subscription of Kansas City, Mo., citizens, has just been engaged, at 18, by the Metropolitan, New York City, world's foremost opera house.

By MARGERY PICKARD
New York, October 14.—Work, work and more work. That's the making of an opera star. Marion Talley, opera Cinderella, is practicing, working, eight hours a day for her debut next February at the Metropolitan, world's greatest opera house.

The little Kansas City girl, 18-year-old daughter of a telegraph operator, is expected to be a sensation, but with the dream of most singers a reality, she isn't resting. Despite the wide range of her singing voice, Miss Talley—or Marion, as she prefers to be called—talks slightly above a whisper.

SEED SPUDS SCARCE OHIO GROWERS TOLD

Seed potatoes will be scarce next spring. If Ohio growers want sound seed next spring, they will be wise to put in orders this fall for spring delivery.

The fact that Ohio this fall has only half its usual supply of certified seed potatoes—prompts N. W. Glines, horticulture extension specialist at the Ohio State University, to make the above statement. Michigan, he reports also has a short crop.

Last spring 158 acres of potatoes were entered by Ohio growers for certification by the Ohio Seed Potato Certification Association, but only a fourth of that acreage—39 acres—could be certified this fall after two field inspections. A bin inspection is yet to come.

That leaves Ohio with about 5000 bushels of certified seed available for next spring, as compared with 11,500 bushels last year. Last year, Mr. Glines points out, only 115 acres were submitted for certification, but 68.75 acres, 60 percent of the total, were approved.

Certified seed potatoes must pass two field inspections and one bin inspection. The must not show more than 2 percent of injury from disease or insect pests, and not more than 1 percent varietal impurity.

Drouth was partly to blame for the reduction in certified seed this year, in Mr. Gline's opinion. Potatoes weakened under the lack of moisture and gave diseases like scurf, fusarium and blackleg a chance to operate.

Women Who Age All welcome to this test By Edna Wallace Hopper

At a grandmother's age, I keep my youthful bloom and contours. The thousands who see me daily on the stage and elsewhere know that I look 19.

That is due to factors science made for me, and one is my White Youth Clay.

This is a new-type clay, white, refined and dainty. It is nothing like the crude and muddy clays so many have employed.

It combines two clays with other needed factors. The clays are clean and white. This is a dainty application, and the final result of 20 years of scientific study.

White Youth Clay purges the skin of all that clogs and mars it. It removes the causes of blackheads and blemishes. It draws the blood to the skin to nourish and revive it. The result is a rosy afterglow which amazes and delights.

It combats all lines and wrinkles, reduces enlarged pores. Many women seem to drop ten years with a single application.

Clay is a beauty essential. No woman can look her best without it, or keep her youth. In all the ages none have found a beauty help to compare with clay.

Now clay is made inviting. It is made to combine added helps. Whatever other clay you may have tried, you owe yourself a test of this new type.

Edna Wallace Hopper's White Youth Clay is supplied by all druggists and toilet counters at 50c and $1. Send coupon for trial tube. Let it show what it does.
